Knowing how many times the track cross in the middle of this village. Adding to our already intolerable congestion – what can be worse that intolerable? More intolerable? I think of ambulances, school busses, children walking, and the things that would cause a real danger as opposed to just inconvenience. I live about 200 feet from the tracks – and the whistles blowing...it's bad enough now but multiply it by five and I'd probably never sleep again.

If that were underground (the intersections) that wouldn't be a problem.
